

10 Best Places to Stay in New Orleans on a Budget

BY BETH D'ADDONO
NEW ORLEANS LOCAL EXPERT

It's easy to go overboard when you're spending in the Big Easy. When you come here for vacation, make sure you are saving your bank roll for the activities, dining and the nightlife for which the city is famous. You can stay at any of the top budget hotels listed below, and keep enough of that green in your back pocket to assure having the best time possible.

A budget sleep in and around New Orleans basically means being farther away from the French Quarter. That's okay though. If you are planning on renting a car during your stay, you will most likely be charged an impressive daily fee, in the $30 range, for onsite hotel parking downtown. With most of the budget hotels listed below, you park free. Getting to the French Quarter from these lodging options can be as easy as walking, or driving 10 minutes and parking on the street. The famous streetcars will also be available to trolley you into the city for $1.25 each way.

Below you will find hotels that offer free breakfast, outdoor swimming pools and even free popcorn popped fresh all day. Read the descriptions below, figure out what amenities are important to you, and know you're getting great value for your lodging dollar.

4

EMBASSY SUITES HOTEL NEW ORLEANS AND LOFTS CLUB TOWER

WAREHOUSE DISTRICT

Photo courtesy of Embassy Suites

CALL NOW

BOOKING

This Embassy Suites hotel is literally steps away from the Ernest N. Morial Convention Center. The establishment offers a wide range of amenities including complimentary made-to-order breakfast, newspapers and an Evening Reception (complete with drinks and snacks). There is an outdoor swimming pool, whirlpool spa and complete fitness center. The 24-hour business center is great for fine tuning business presentations or sending a last minute, important fax. The hotel is super clean, and 100 percent non-smoking. All rooms are two room suites, with a bedroom and living room area. There is a television in each room, and adequate work space on a well-lit desk/office area.